

Spring is in the air...or at least it is supposed to be. We have no doubt had a great winter in terms of moisture. Lots of snow should give us a great runoff later this spring into early summer. As the sun starts to heat up the temperature, our horses will soon begin shedding their winter coat. The good news is that we should be able to start roping more as the days get warmer and longer.

Lots of news in the team roping world. Some producers as well as roping events have gone by the wayside. Economics have definitely played a significant role in this. Things sure are not what they used to be. One thing I don't think has changed is that ropers still want to go to a well produced event where the cattle are good and where the payoff and prizes reign supreme.

As has been proven year after year we here at Zamora Roping Productions plan to continue doing exactly that...producing quality, consistent, fair and efficient ropings. We will continue to hire the best cattle contractors in the industry as well as the best help available. We will also commit to providing the best customer service in the industry.

We have a great lineup of ropings and events planned for 2010. Check out the events section of our website for complete schedules and dates. We will also be adding events as the year progresses.

We will be producing USTRC Qualifiers, USTRC Affiliate ropings and World Series Qualifiers along with several of our stalwart specialty ropings. Look for our ads in the Super Looper, All Around, Spin to Win, Rodeo News, The Arizona Jackpot and several other publications. If you are not on our mailing list and wish to receive our flyers please send us an email with your address and we will add you to our database.

As always, we realize team ropings abound and the choices are many. We personally invite you to come rope with us. We will do all we can to make it a great experience. We know not everyone will emerge as champion but we can assure you we will give you a fair chance every time you run one down the pen.

Until next time, good luck and go get the money.
